INTRODUCTION TO SURVEILLANCE

Objectives of three-day workshop

Participants with no surveillance experience

- * Provide you with a background in basic surveillance principals and techniques.
- * Equip you with the skills needed to perform surveillance with more experience members.
- * Establish a base from which you can practice, refine and develop your own surveillance skills and confidence.
- * Expose you to the techniques and practices, and our approach surveillance.
- * Give you the knowledge to work in a surveillance team with experienced members.
- * Give you an opportunity to practice your skills in a training environment where you can receive feedback from “Targets”.

Participants with surveillance experience

- * Refresh basic skills and the principals behind these practices.
- * Give you an opportunity to practice your skills in a training environment where you can receive feedback from “Targets”.
- * Give you an opportunity to discuss and attempt surveillance techniques you have been working on.
- * Give you an opportunity to refine areas you have identified as “lacking” in your surveillance repertoire.
- * Expose you to the techniques and practices expected of Operators in todays environment.
- * Enhance your ability to work in an inter-grated team.
- * Increase the ability to provide a world class standard of service to the client ensuring ongoing work and employment.

During these sessions we identify and present the principles of surveillance. We stress right from the start that surveillance is flexible and adaptable by nature. What you are taught here will not “fit” into all situations – however the principals/concepts are sound and will give you the foundation and develop the “way of thinking” needed for you to become a good surveillance officer.
