

ADVANCED SURVEILLANCE COURSE

Conducting Surveillance can be both highly demanding and rewarding requiring a high level of training. We offer this to you.

About the course.

Our course is designed over 5 intensive days, to develop your ability to work effectively either on your own or within a team conducting effective and professional Surveillance. The surveillance trade craft and jargon you will develop is current and used by most law enforcement agencies in Australia today. Your instructors back grounds consist of military, law enforcement, and Government and Private Industry experience. There will be plenty of opportunities throughout the course for mentoring and we will endeavour to give you a world class training programme unlike any other in Australia.

What you will be doing.

Following an initial briefing and re-cap of surveillance techniques learned in our Introduction course, you will be trained in using various coms and video equipment, and a quick recap of our legal obligations out there in the field. You will then be briefed on the weeks mobile and static surveillance programme. From that point on you will be completely in the field drilling and conducting static, foot and vehicle surveillance for the entire duration of the course. You will be working as individuals, pairs and as teams throughout this time and will be equipped with vehicles, radios, surveillance equipment logs and briefs.

Together we will cover all aspects of surveillance techniques, study target movements, routes, cover teams, communication, jargon, equipment, driving techniques, all while operating as a surveillance operative. We promise you the most challenging, intensive 5 days of your life!

The last day will conclude with an assessment of your skills working in pairs conducting a surveillance and counter-surveillance exercise. Followed by an in depth De Brief of the days event.
